

As the Allocation Analyst, you will be responsible for daily store allocations, while liaising and communicating with stores and multiple departments such as, logistics and traffic, while monitoring inventory. You will participate in analyzing selling reports, and reviewing stock to sales ratios, while responding to changing sales trends.

Some of What You'll Do:

- Daily store replenishment/allocations
- Perform inventory analysis and reporting
- Monitor stock levels by store and by category
- Create and distribute selling/allocation reports
- Work with stores/logistics team on shipment issues
- Manage return authorizations and transfers

Some of What You'll Do Need:

- Minimum 1-year experience in allocations or replenishment at a retailer
- Experience with ERP, Momentis knowledge and asset
- Experience with store POS, Teamwork knowledge an asset
- Strong Excel skills

Some of Who You Are:

- Excellent analytical skills
- Excellent communications skills in English
- Ability to multitask and handle several deadlines at once
- Ability to work independently and as part of a team
- An interest in fashion