

Reporting to the Vice President of Ladies Design, you will be responsible for the research, design and management of the division while being a key link between the team, production, development, and the VP.

Some of What You'll do:

- Research, develop and manage of the womenswear line in all its functions
- Manage of Juniors in Design team, and all other cross-functional partners.
- Act as an integral liaison between the VP when not in Montréal, and rest of team
- Perform trend research
- Work with team on fits and technical development

Some of What You'll Need:

- Understanding of the market, competitors and technical experience
- An understanding and clear viewpoint on the market and its trends for a super product focused point of view
- Organizational and Managerial skills across design/tech and development (team player)
- Experience knowledge of Performance Fabrications in Specific
- Good Technical Research ability
- An enthusiasm for fashion and a strong appreciation of what is going on
- Luxury Fashion experience an asset

Please submit portfolio with application*